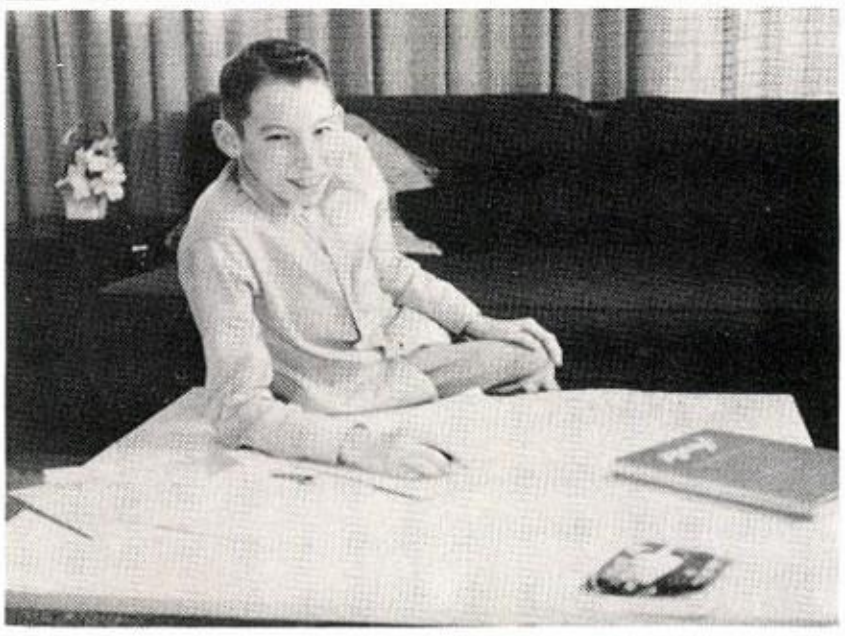
Reverence, Love, Gratitude
The Will To Obey And
The Will To Serve



Immortelle

When I go away,
Don't let people say
I am dead.
If friends grieve for me,
Just say tenderly
That I've fled
To live on a star--
That I say au revoir,
Not farewell.
I can't fade away
For I am a gay
Immortelle.

Sure, Mike, you're here to stay;
Courage seen each day
Is a sign;
For on each early morn
In the hall is born
A smile benign.
Patience all the while,
Frag'le boy with big smile
Each admires.
Presence in each class,
Schol'rship none surpass
Still inspires.

Mike, since you've gone away,
We at high school say
You aren't dead.
Tho' we grieve for thee,
We say tenderly
That you've fled
To live on a star--
We reply au revoir,
Not farewell.
You can't fade away
For you are a gay
Immortelle.

This Is Our World

Ours is a many sided world of widely varied personalities and interests. It revolves around the many phases of school life and provides a place for mental and emotional growth and enrichment . . . Ours is a world of tradition and change, contrasts and harmonies. Each class and each individual carries over some of the traditions of preceding years, but everyone adds something new. No two students or teachers are alike, yet each has his place in the school . . . Our world is a place for gaining the valuable knowledge and experience that will serve as the foundation for our work in the future. These years are the time to apply ourselves and gain the full benefit of our high school education, for our future success depends upon the foundation we establish today.

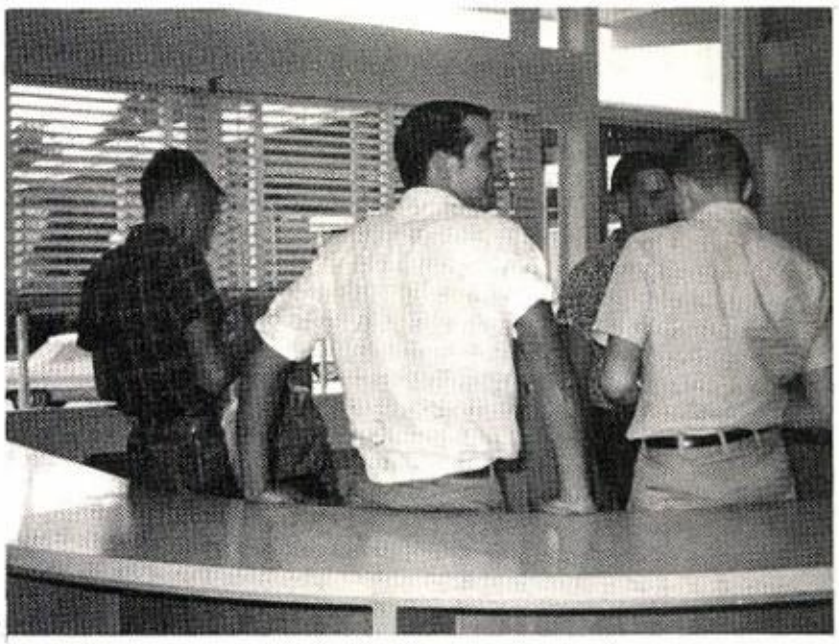
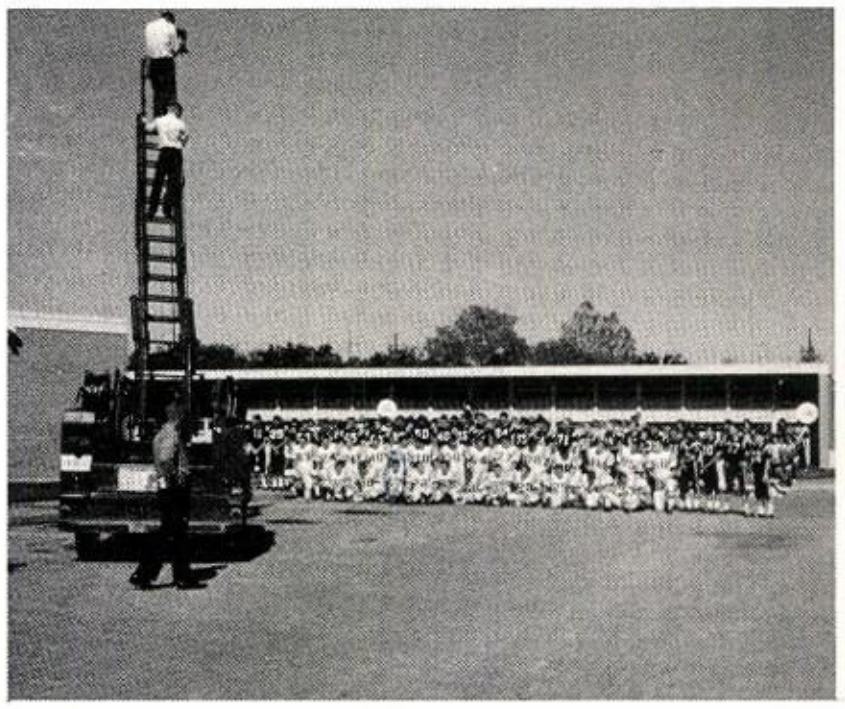
Halls Of SHS



Seniors eagerly troop to the office to receive their "long-awaited" Senior rings.

Officer elections for clubs and classes are among the early activities of students organizing for the new year.



The early fall schedule includes disruption of routine classwork at SHS for '66 Jacket picture-taking day.

Kay Littleton, top annual salesman, issues her 81st '66 Jacket receipt to Brent Simmons.

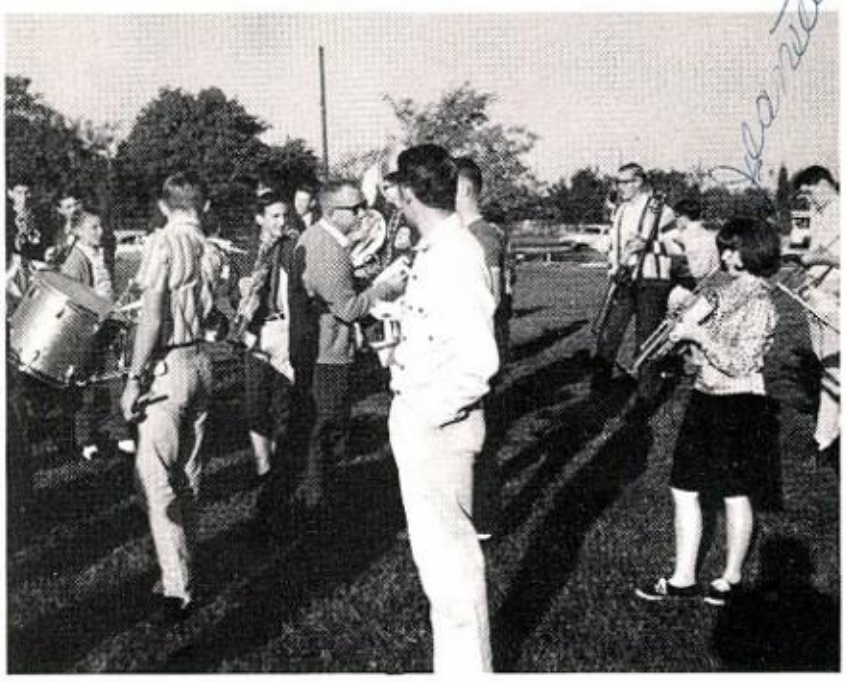
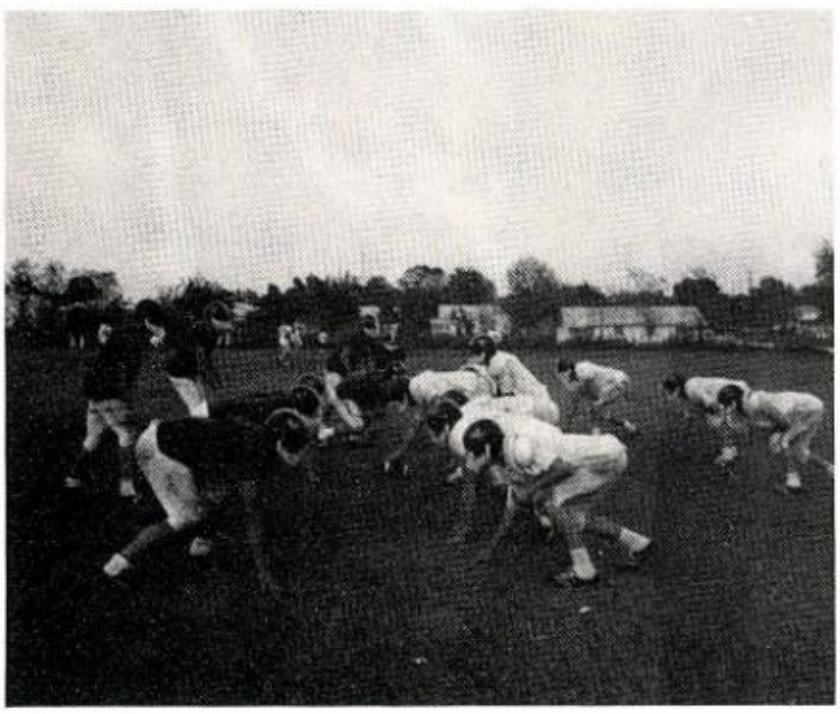
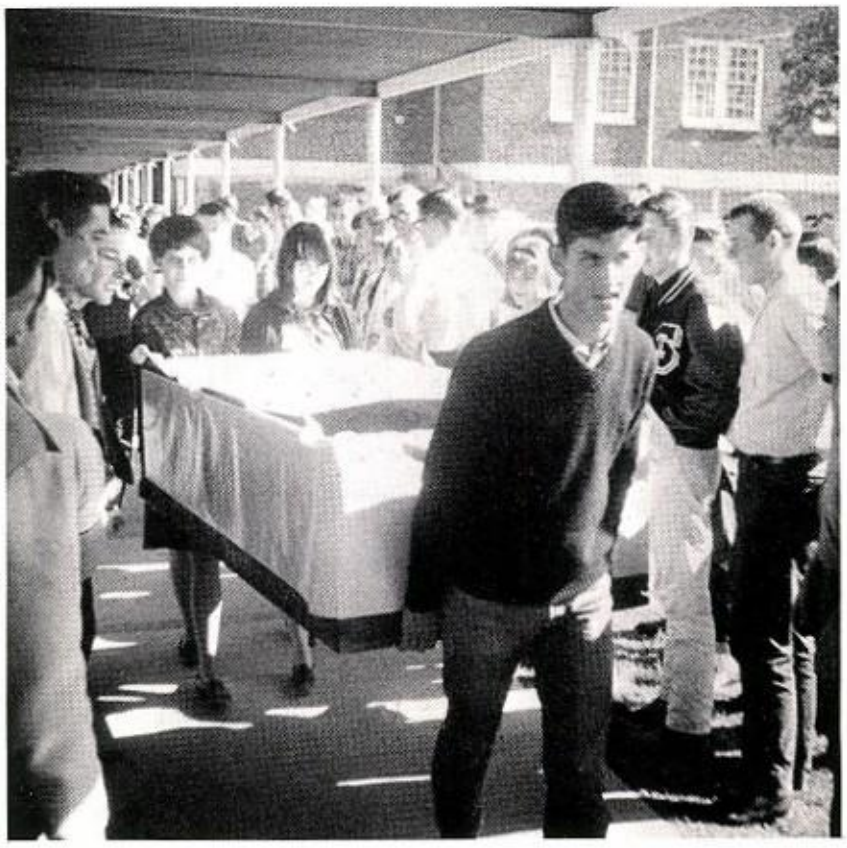
Practicing after school, Stingerettes strive to perfect their dance for Friday night's game.



Beginning each morning at 8, band members spend many hours drilling for their half-time shows.

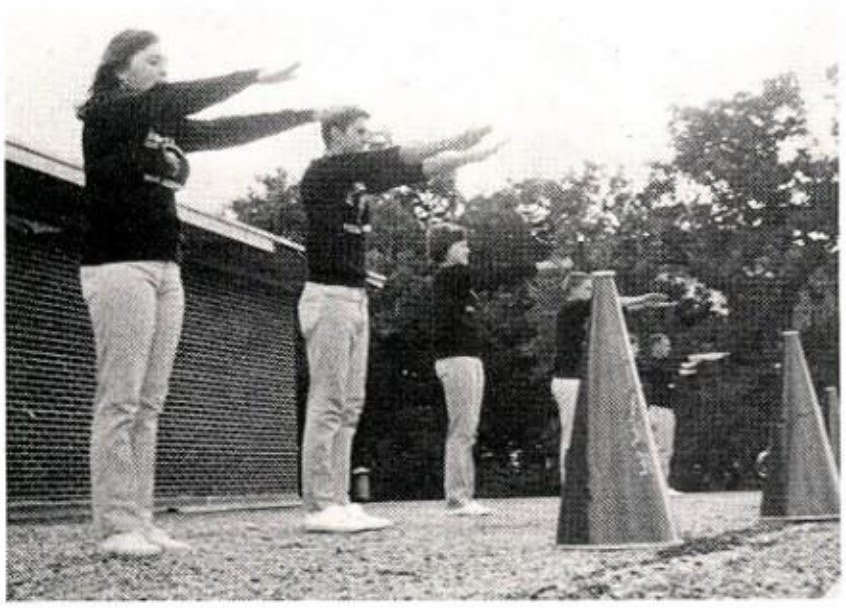


Jacket players and coaches scrimmage long hours to get ready for football competition.



To promote spirit, cheerleaders conduct a funeral march for a "Dead Texan."

Friday morning pep rally, led by exuberant cheerleaders, sets the stage for the night's game . . .



Loyal Jacket fans signal "thumbs up" for the kickoff.

Booster signs--on the walls, hanging from the rafters, in the gym, -- everywhere. School spirit is at a peak; football is king. Many activities center around it. The Band and Stingerettes practive daily to perfect half-time performances. Cheerleaders boost spirit and enthusiasm at games and pep rallies. Then it's "thumbs up" for the kickoff with everyone anxiously awaiting the outcome of the game, hoping it's the Jackets who will celebrate the sweet taste of victory.

Many Hours Of Practice Prove Jackets Are Best

Homecoming Festivities Add Color,

Junior girls alphabetize the traditional mums for quick pick-up service.

Helium-filled balloons sail through the air adding to the color and excitement of Homecoming.

Kevan moves up and down the spirit ladder, depicting Homecoming spirit. Loudly cheering students urge him to the top.

Beauty, And Excitement To SHS

At half-time, Trina Engler, escorted by Don Cranford, is presented as the 1965 Homecoming Queen. In her court are Mary Burns, escorted by Arlie Garrett, and Wanda Keeney, escorted by Ronnie Woolley.

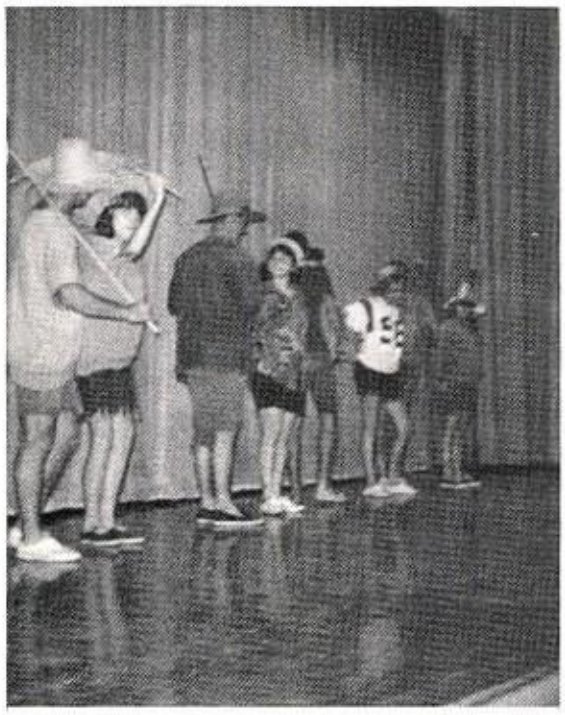
While Stephenville High students and exes dance to lively music, Donna, Vic, Charlotte, and Donnie pause for refreshments.

Larry Lane, president of the NHS, explains the qualifications and purposes of NHS to 21 inductees at the formal induction ceremony.

"Cupcakes in the foyer" is a familiar sound to students rushing to buy one of those "lip-smacking" cupcakes sold by the annual staff and NHS.

Excited football boys hurry to the gym to receive their letter jackets.

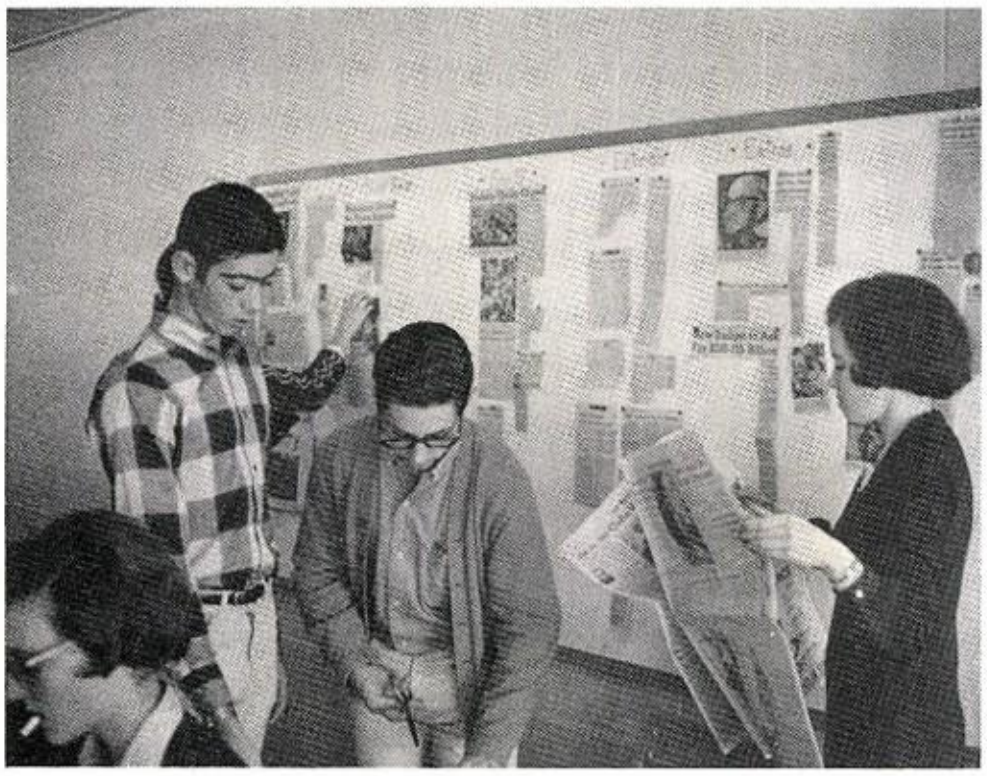
SHS's award-winning stage band displays its many talents in an early assembly.



Stingerettes learn about fishing from well-informed SHS fishermen.

High-stepping leaders, Trina, Donna, and Linda, add their bit to the colorful Stingerette show.

Len Johnson and Joan Miller "magically" entertain a responsive audience.



The fourth-period Civics class bulletin board committee -- Larry Lane, Bill Irwin, and Judy Laughlin -- clips articles of interest to place on the board.

News At SHS

Newspapers at SHS have been introduced as a "living textbook" in Miss Russell's social studies classes. Students read and discuss local, state, and international happenings in the daily paper. Each week a bulletin board committee of four students selects articles of particular interest to put up for the entire class to read.

The second-period Civics class reads attentively their "living textbook."

(Center Right) Santa arrives amid happy students and, believing they have been good, showers them with candy.

Christmas,

and Snow

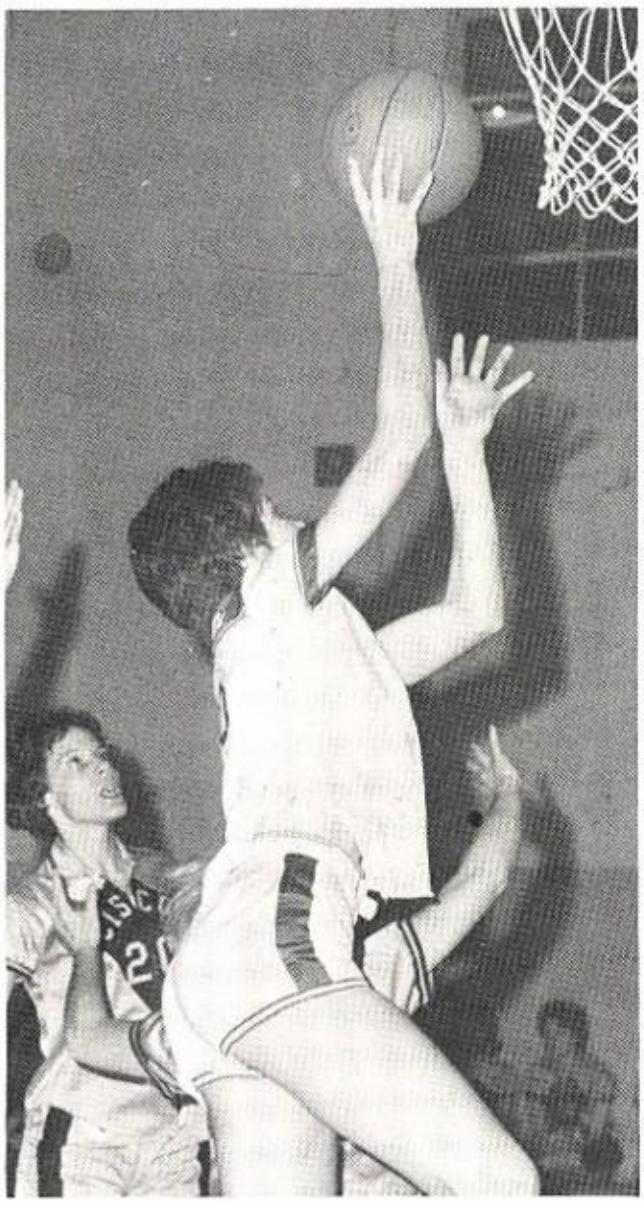
Splendor of Spirit Illumines Basketball World

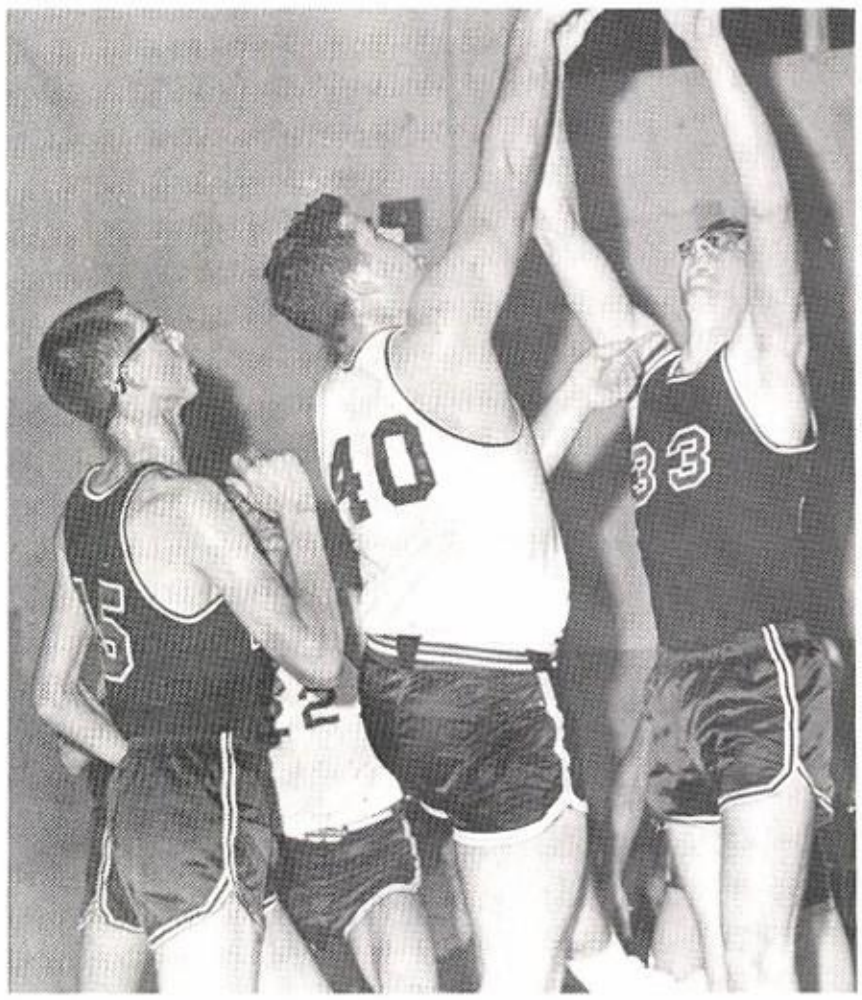
Honeybee reserves keep a sharp eye on the plays from the bench.

Georganna drives in for a lay-up.



The SHS student body gleefully cheers the basketball teams on to victory.

Melvin reaches high for a rebound in a game against Lingleville.



Meeting at Mrs. Christine Whyburn's home, the play cast makes the necessary changes in the script and then take a "Coke break."

Charles needs make-up for that distinguished graying-look.

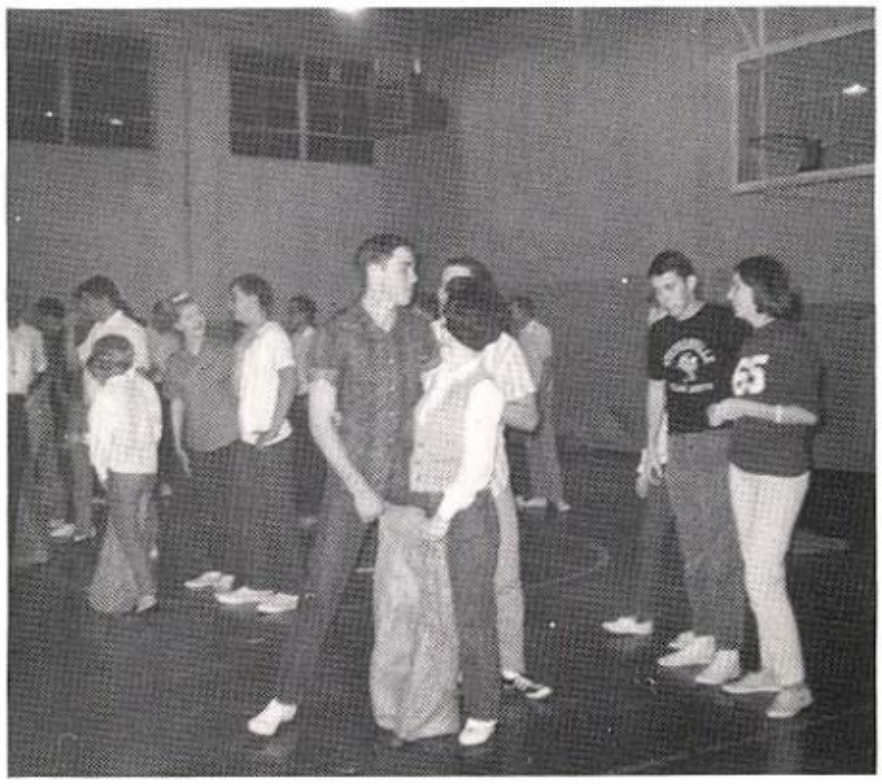
"The Magic Touch" Sets The Pace for the Presentation Play

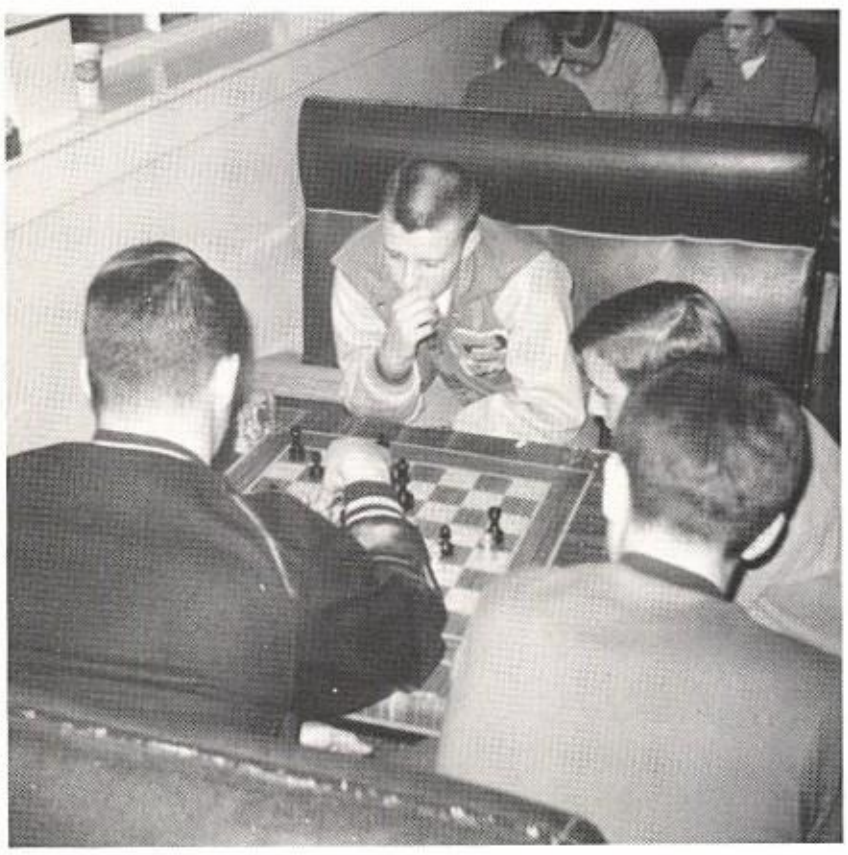
Bobbette, alias Mary Jo, tells her mother, Mary Park, she has finally grown up.

The play cast poses for the camera after an exciting, fun-filled evening.

Spring World Opens With Tourney, Public School Week

The Band Smorgasbord proves to be a favorite with the people of Stephenville.





Student Ag teacher from A&M, Melvin Eilers, shows Randy Whitman the correct way to shear sheep.

Carolyn Crow looks at scrapbooks during a library-sponsored tea for the student teachers.

Public School Week visitation offers parents an opportunity both to see student exhibits and to chat with the teachers.

Lt. Governor Preston Smith, seen with Duane Sparkman and Billy Baskett, is guest speaker at the DE-VIC Banquet.

Robert, Joe, Linda, and Lou represent the SHS Student Council at the State Convention in Hurst.

Though it is spring, Honeybees beam excitedly over their new jackets.

Thirteen Senior girls compete in the annual Lions' Club Queen contest. The lucky winner, Trina Engler, is congratulated by fellow contestants.

Mr. Gilbert carefully checks seating arrangement for the CC Merit Award winners. Forty-three high school students earn this recognition.

ACADEMICS

Academics is the focal point of our world. Whether studying or teaching, everyone is involved in a daily search for knowledge and experience. Involved in a wide range of studies, students have an opportunity to become acquainted with all aspects of our ever-changing world. A history student pouring over reference books in the library, last minute changes in an English theme, and the odor of burning sulfur in the chemistry lab exemplify the widely varied phases of academics.

Superintendent

One of the main reasons for the high quality of education in Stephenville Public Schools is the effective leadership of Mr. J. C. Helm, Jr., superintendent. Another is the immediate interest displayed by members of the Board of Education. Realizing education is the real strength of our world, these administrators, in the course of planning, set high standards to make certain that each student has the necessary foundation to succeed in college or at a vocation.

A successful school is run like a wise business investment. A good "principal" aided by a good "supervisor" with a large amount of "interest" make up a good "investment." In a business proposition the reward is profit; in a school it is well-educated students, providing the good principal, supervisor, and large amount of interest are Principal Ben Gilbert and Supervisor Charles Kitchens. By his ready humor Mr. Gilbert teaches a moral pleasantly. His handling of our affairs usually contains a bit of wisdom which students unknowingly absorb. Exemplifying kindness and consideration, Mr. Kitchens always lends a helping hand. Whether in advising those under his supervision or in retrieving lost items, his first thought is for the student.

ACTIVITIES

Self-expression in extracurricular activities adds necessary variety to our everyday world. By playing in the band or singing in the chorus, a student receives a feeling of accomplishment. Various clubs provide recreation, companionship, and entertainment, while members take part in club projects. Exuberant cheers of spectators, hungry crowds hurrying to the concession stand at half-time, the thrill of the game after long hours of practice, band music, excited cheerleaders, the satisfaction of victory or the frustration of defeat--all are a part of the world of athletics, which helps us to develop the well-rounded personalities necessary for success.

Convention and Thirty-three 1965-1966 Student Council members--the president of the student body, the presidents of each class, three boys and three girls elected as representatives of each class, plus last year's state convention delegates--engage in many activities, helping to plan assemblies, operating Rec Room concessions, and sponsoring victory dances, Homecoming and the school tournament. All members attend the district convention in the fall and elect two boys and two girls from the Junior Class representatives to serve as delegates to the State Student Council Convention and automatic 1966-1967 council members. Being the image of and for SHS students is a privilege accompanied by responsibilities and duties. The last of the year's many council-sponsored activities promoting school spirit is a colorful campaign to elect next year's student body president.

Drum Major and Majorette try-outs are open to aspiring Jacket Band members each spring. On the basis of twirling ability, musical ability, and co-operation in all activities, out-of-town judges determine contestants' qualifications and name the winners with Director Jim Harwell's approval. Encouraged by the able direction and planning of Mr. Harwell, these chosen leaders of the band accept the responsibility and hard work necessary to a successful year. In recognition of their competitive performance, the SHS Marching Band, under the field direction of Drum Major Terry Price, earns a I--the greatly sought-after UIL rating--at Brady.

Adult Education Survey

Fifty members of the J. Thomas Davis Chapter of Future Teachers of America under the sponsorship of Miss Gwen Williams attend regular meetings on the local level. Many go to the district convention while only those energetic enough to earn the necessary points are privileged to attend the state convention. Officers for the year are President Marilyn Miller, Vice-President David Self, Secretary Ann Oxford, Treasurer Andrea Burgess, Historian Janie Harwell, and Reporter David Yates. Hoping to increase Stephenville's educational opportunities, members conduct a city-wide, house-to-house adult education survey as a club project.

Members meet at school to start a house-to-house survey.

With Mr. Dean Williams, first-year biology instructor, as advisor, many SHS students, interested in biology, organize a new club. James Dickerson, Clifton Wood, Mary Ann Leatherwood, Nolan Brandt and Carolyn Carr are elected to serve as president, vice-president, and secretary, treasurer, and reporter respectively. Several meetings are held during the year. At a luncheon meeting members hear guest speaker Sheryl Williams entertainingly discuss her hobby --making plastic molds of fish. Culminating the year's activities is a fun-for-all wiener roast at the park.

STUDENTS

Students make our world alive and interesting. Informal gatherings at noon, brief greetings while passing in the hall, or meeting a new student provides a change of pace in our day-to-day world. The competition which is present in every phase of our world keeps students alert and makes them work to the full extent of their abilities. The students of today will determine what tomorrow's world will be.

Class Of '69 Greets SHS

More than one hundred and sixty Freshmen, the class of '69, enter the wonderful world of high school. The very first day of school is very exciting as everyone is trying to learn his schedule and find his way around SHS. Early class meetings are held to select class representatives. "Lowly Fish" participate in all the activities — learning the school song, buttoning-up at pep rallies, leading cheers, and running errands for Seniors. Attending ball games, dances, parties, and other activities, they become full-fledged members of SHS. There are many never-to-be forgotten "firsts" — the first Homecoming dance, the first Presentation play, and the first school tournament. Homework assignments have been long and hard, but most Freshmen welcome the end of the year, looking forward to being Sophomores.

The Class of '68, one hundred and thirty-five strong, returns to Stephenville High's world of education in September. Confident Sophomores now, they are ready to take a more active part in campus activities though classwork is harder and homework assignments take more time. While becoming well acquainted with Julius Caesar, keeping up with routine lessons, and cramming for exams, Sophomores manage to find time also for active participation in sports, clubs, and parties. Planning ahead, the class conducts a rummage sale to start a class fund. This "nest egg" deposited in the SHS Activity Fund provides a feeling of security as the year ends and the Class of '68 eagerly looks forward to being SHS Juniors.

While sponsors (at right) — Mr. Williams, Mr. Keeney, Mrs. Stanfield, and Mr. Hailey — supervise Junior adjustment and acceptance of responsibility, loyal, dependable officers pilot course of the year's activities. Mothers also lend helping hands as eager Juniors tackle money-making projects throughout the year to finance the annual banquet and prom honoring Seniors. Having spent a profitable year in a world of Junior activities, both curricular and extra-curricular, excited classmates eagerly await their final year at SHS.

Seniors begin their most important year outwardly calm and collected, but inwardly worrying about whether the college of their choice will accept them or whether that super job will come through. The year proves to be the busiest, biggest, and best ever! Class rings arrive early in September. Soon afterwards the class engages in the big fund-raising drive of the year, magazine sales. Members of the class head school clubs and organizations and school publications, the Stinger and the Jacket. The year races by and spring finds the Seniors school tourney champs. The end of school brings a whirl of activities. The Junior-Senior Banquet and Jewel Ball with music by the Images and the exciting Senior trip provide never-to-be-forgotten memories. Then on May 24, whether it is with quickened step or reluctant tread, Seniors leave SHS, remembering the work and its rewards, the magic of dreams, the harmony, the chaos, the logic, the leisure moments, the friends, the fun, the participation, the service that highlighted this, their last year to be a part of the world of SHS. Next year 104 graduates will enter new and different worlds — college, jobs, military service, and other pursuits.

ADVERTISING

Advertising is obviously an important part of our world today. Almost anywhere we go there is advertising of some kind. Not only do teen-agers themselves have a great deal of purchasing power, but they also influence much of their families' spending. The world of advertising helps to establish a closer relationship between the merchant and the consumer.

We are proud of the young people in our town. We know they will carry on the great traditions of our nation and continue to build a heritage of freedom and opportunity for generations that follow.
We are especially proud of these five members of our bank family in the 1966 Graduating Class.

"TO THE BLUE, TO THE GOLD"

Here's a toast to Stephenville High,
We her praises ever sing,
Stand and cheer her name once again;
Loudly may the echoes ring.

Fill a glass for happy times,
Sons and daughters ever true,
Always holding deep in loyal hearts
The Spirit of the Gold and Blue.

To the Blue -- To the Gold --
To our school and its glorious history;
To our faith -- To our zeal --
To the days we remember so joyfully.

To the Blue -- To the Gold --
May we carry our banner to victory;
To our hopes -- to our dreams --
To the world we shall make ours some day.

Here's to all our glorious past,
Here's to our victories won --
Here's to glorious future years.
For our fame has just begun.

Fill a glass for happy times,
Sons and daughters ever true,
Always holding deep in loyal hearts
The Spirit of the Gold and Blue.

Dear Janie
We've had lots of fun together this year. I remember in Biology I want to wish you all the luck in the world.
Ronnie "5 5"

Janie -
you are a great girl and a friend to have I'll miss you in

I wish you
all the luck.
Always
Janette

I said
it has been nice having you in my class.
I wish you
all the luck.

Dear Janie,
It was a great year for marching (I hate it) and playing. We can probably make a sweepstakes this year with our band. Good luck always.
Jim Perry

Janie,
Here's to a great girl and a good friend. We've had many good times in the past, and I hope we have many more.
Richard

Dear Janie,
You are a real nice girl and everyone that knows you likes you. Best wishes and good luck in the fracture.
Craig

janie,
best wishes to you + great luck in coming years
Larry

Janie
The past year has been a great one, and I know it wouldn't have been so much fun without you around. I wish you all the luck in the world,
Eddie

ENCOMIUM
TO JANIE HARWELL

what can I say to one so lovely
as you;
It has all been said.
So use any more superlatives would be as futile as stirring among the dead
For each word has been used so carefully, then properly laid to rest.
all that remains is the old original,
that little word: "best"

To know one such as you means a thorough test of credulity.
It is impossible to comprehend an angel;
an exercise in futility.
O, a lovely soul, am suddenly blinded
by your bright pure light;
For no mortal was ever intended to gaze on such a heavenly sight.

yet I am lifted, among the stars and clouds of another world
Because that wonderful little hand touches my heart, and my soul is unfurled.
What right have I to touch her,
only God knows;
But what's important to me is "I can!"
and my very substance glows.

Dear Janie,
We really had a great time in Stage Band. This year has started out great again. I have to make the best of it. Its my last year. You're a real sweet girl & I wish you the best of luck throughout your life.

Love ya!
Cheryl Pittman
Jr. '65-66'

Dear Janie,
I have known you for quite a few years & how few years have all been enjoyable to me. We really had a blast last year in Biology, remember Mr. Williams and all your drawing. Best of luck in your future & you really deserve it.

Love ya,

Dear Janie,
From one sax to another, thanks a lot for a great year. (STAGE BAND) Lets hope for another one this year. Maybe we have a few sectionals, huh??
Lots of luck
Tommy "Cog S."

Dear Janie,
You're a great friend and I really enjoyed the past years with you. I am looking forword to the next years. Best of luck to you in the future, especially for you and Doyle.
Love ya,
Johanna

Dear Janie
This was a great year
it's been loads of fun knowing you in some of my classes. I hope next year will be as much fun. May God be with you always. Lots of luck in the world always
Lynda Dyer

Dear Janie,
This year was a blast (stage band) and I think the next will be even better.
Best of Luck
Pete

Dear Janie,
Everyone says it was fun knowing you
+ good luck in the future and Bla Bla Bla Itgoes for me to. Keep your chin up + smile. Be sweet
I had fun in ~~BB~~ last. Hope its as much fun next year.
Lots of Love,
Joan

Dear Janie,
I have enjoyed knowing you & your family for these five years. Its too bad that we don't have any more time to play in our stage band, etc. I want to wish you the best in everything always. I think you're a swell girl. May God bless you Always,
Tony

Janie
Well here goes our 3rd year. I have a heavy heart at my leaving the greatest. I here
